Regardless of the season, nature usually has a new "hit show" playing outside. Here the chill beauty of a fresh snowfall viewed through the rows of wood windows helps to make this kitchen-dining area seem even more warm and inviting.

Utah High Court Upholds Ruling On Indian Vote

Utah Supreme Court Thurs day of last week refused to de clare unconstitutional a state law that prohibits residents of Indian or military reservations from voting The decision will be appealed to the U S Supreme Court

Attorney for the Indians is Robert W Barker Washington D C attorney, who ordered a copy of the record of the case to submit to the U S high court

The case had been filed by Preston Allen, an Indian resid ing on the Ute Indian Reservation in Duchesne County.

The statute in question states "Any person living upon any Indian or military reservation shall not be deemed a resident of Utah (with voting privileges), unless such person had acquired a residence in some county in Utah prior to taking up his residence upon such Indian or military reservation "

Unanimous decision of the Utah Supreme Court was that "we do not see any basis for concluding that the act is so clearly beyond the powers of the Legislature and in conflict with the constitutional provisions referred to that it should be stricken down "
